Planning Design Group Launches New Website

ORLANDO, FL – Planning Design Group (PDG) is pleased to announce the official launch of our website for PDGFLA.com. PDG collaborated with the web design team from Appleton Creative (formerly Avid Neo Geo) to create the website.

The site features, among other things, a company profile, description of services and featured projects, PDG in the Community with links to various Central Florida volunteer organizations, Press Releases and News Articles and an interactive form to receive more information about services offered by PDG.

PDG was launched in May 2006 and will celebrate its 2nd anniversary this year. PDG remains focused on offering a full range of planning services which include urban design, conceptual design analysis, New Urbanism analysis, master planning, comprehensive plans and plan amendments, development review, visioning, public participation, zoning and preliminary subdivision plans. Through a proven combination of ability and technical expertise, PDG delivers efficient, cost effective and capable service tailored to each client's individual needs.
